Grammar
An adjective describes a noun. In English the adjective usually comes before the noun it is describing but in French it usually comes after the noun. C'est un chat noir
A conjunction links two words or phrases together il y a un poussin et un éléphant

Phonics
The final consonant in French words is almost always silent. There are some exceptions to this rule, such as ours, in which the final 's' is sounded out.
